Sophomores get ready to roll during the Hello Assembly.

Sophomores Get Sacked

For the first year sophomores had it easy and registered at the end of their freshman year, while juniors and seniors went through the traditional hustle and bustle of registration on September 6.

Thursday, September 7, was the first day of school for all students. Sophomores were not the only ones to be confused though, as juniors and seniors had to adjust to the new rooms and a new room number system.

As a part of that first week, the Hello Assembly was held on Friday with new principal Don Essig kicking it off with his "firm, fair and fun" speech. The Lassies then performed the traditional routine, "Be True to Your School," dedicated to the sophomores. Next, in a cupcake eating contest, "Unknown Sophomore" Makana Apo, Mike Thompson, Julie Jorgenson, Tina Pittman and new Vice-Principal Bill Personen competed, with Thompson winning in 11 seconds.

The exciting traditional filbert race found twenty sophomores rolling nuts down the floor with their noses, while being bombarded by the junior and senior sections. Cathy Hutchinson and Chris Knowles were lucky winners, each received victory kisses from seniors Rich Auld and Susie Graves, respectively. The principal was then intitiated as he nugged a filbert down the gym floor to the jubilation of the onlookers.

Concluding the assembly were class competition yells. One football coach was appointed to represent each class, with the winning representative receiving a pie in the face. Since all classes tried their hardest, all three coaches got the prize.

Despite a loss to Sheldon in the first football game, Hello Week ended successfully with a dance. North Eugene alumni Tony Ward and Brian Vandercar provided the disco vibes for the first dance of the year.

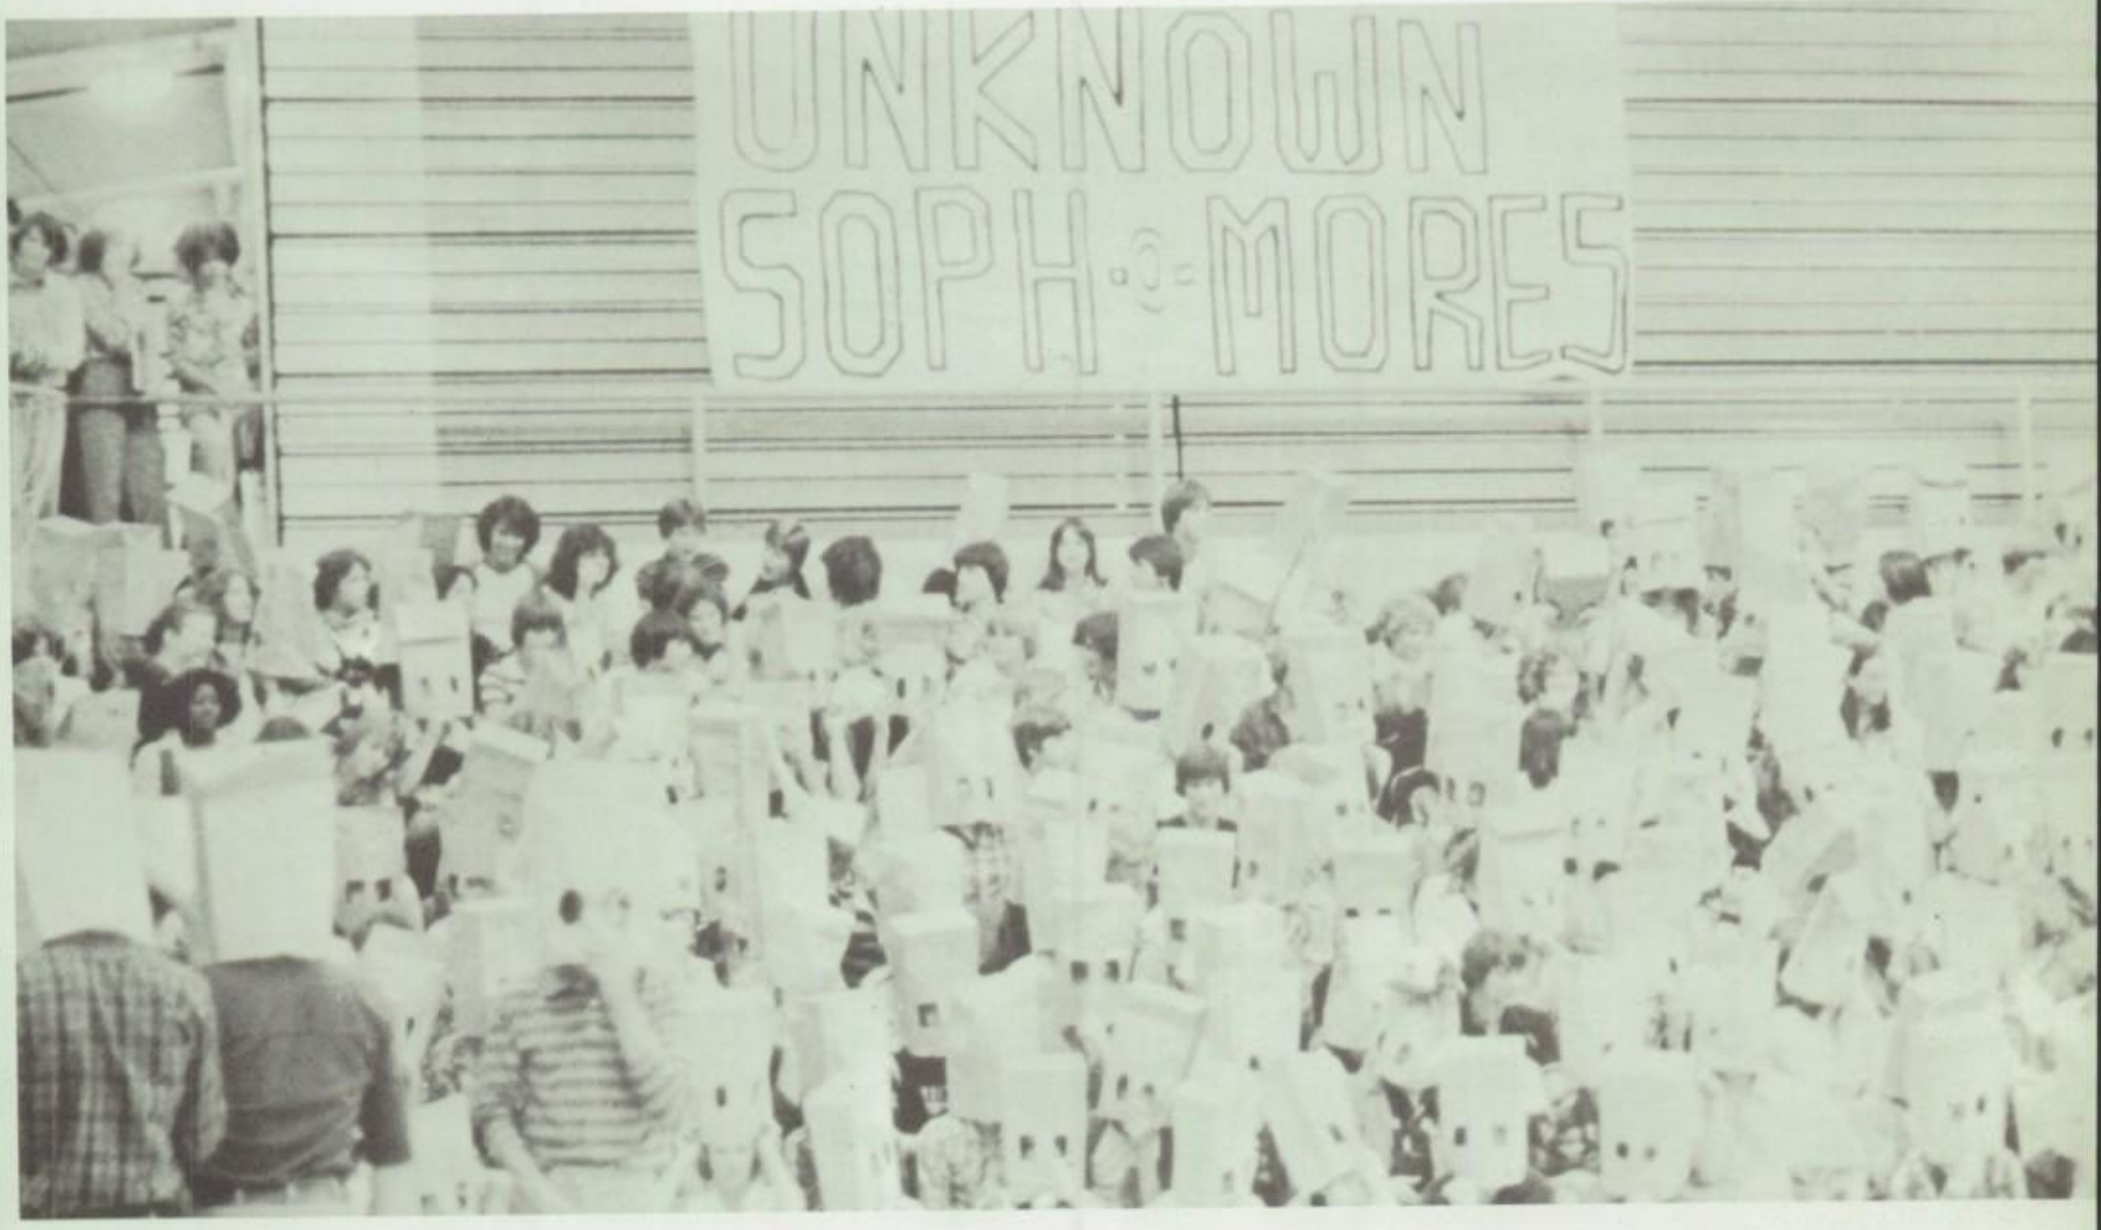
New Principal Don Essig finds his job a humbling experience.



The "Unknown" class finds security in numbers at the Hello Assembly.

Homecoming Activities

The traditional Homecoming Week was held Oct. 30-Nov. 3. The activities began Monday, with Comfy Clothes Day, which included anything from t-shirts to football jerseys and boxer shorts.

Tuesday was appropriately Halloween Day. Everything from hockey players to supermen appeared at school. Homecoming princesses nominated during the break by the senior boys, were, Linette Below, Taunia LeFort, Jana Pittman, and Sheila Morgan.

On Wednesday Cowboys and Indians invaded North for Western Day. That night a pizza party was held at Gatehouse Pizza Parlor, where students munched out on pepperonies, tomatoes, and Hawaiian delights.

Look-a-like Day was Thursday as people became twins for the occasion and during break many students took out their aggressions at the first car bash to be held at school in several years.

Friday was full of spirit, as Red and White Day started with a pep assembly sixth period. The rally performed a skit to the song "Grease Lightning," and the first powder puff football game, ever, followed. The sophomores and juniors beat the senior girls 7-6.

That night during halftime of the varsity football game, Linette Below was chosen Homecoming Queen for 1978. North had a disappointing loss to South 20-0. A disco dance concluded the evening of activities.

Halloween Day seemed to bring out the "real" Curtis Clark.

Senior David Richardson's futile attempt to make a "dent" seems to amuse the crowd.

Curtis Clark escorts an excited Linette Below as she is crowned Homecoming Queen for 1978.

Katrina Kershaw gives Billy Dufek a close shave for the junior class.

Carl Markworth seems to be disgusted at the slow speed of his partner John Reed during the tricycle race.

Assemblies Spark Spirit

Many assemblies were held throughout the school year to raise spirit and keep the students informed of the success enjoyed by the various school organizations.

The Rally and Lassie members kept crowds entertained by dance routines, yells, and skits designed to bolster the athletic teams. Class competition was popular with the students, including broom twirling, chariot races, and a shaving contest. Pep talks were given by coaches and team members to encourage support for their sports. Assemblies were usually closed by the band playing the fight song "Cheers."

Student manager Fifi Souers ran most of these assemblies, with Gary Arne taking over her position second semester.

Coaches Eric Staniak, Jim Schmieding and Hank Bendix seem to have enjoyed a whipped cream facial.

Dave West and Kevin Olson size each other up while they wonder who will make the first move during their karate demonstration.

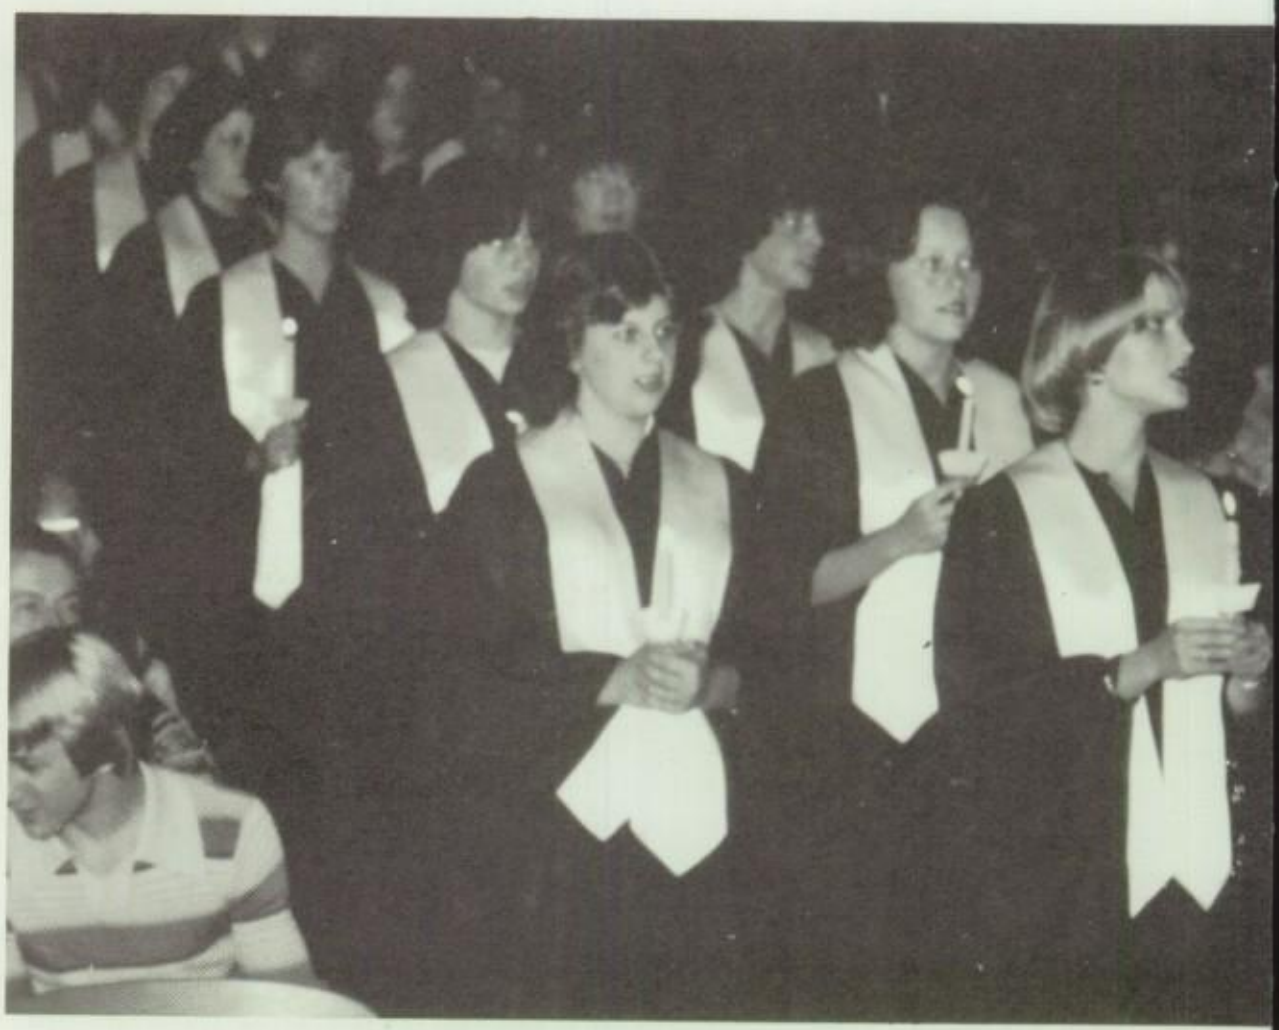
Christmas Festival Rings In Holidays

Promoting the Christmas spirit and providing an opportunity for people to view areas of the school not commonly seen were ideas behind this years Christmas Festival.

Students from the art classes demonstrated such things as jewelry making, weaving and the potters wheel. The Home-Ec and Foreign Language Departments also had booths to display their works.

The Acappella Choir, Girls Choir, and Highland Pipers each gave performances, then, all joined together for the grand finale. Presentations were also made by the Orchestra and Concert Band.

A highlight of the concert was a skit, "The Night Before Christmas," in which Principal Don Essig read the popular Christmas tale. He was joined by his wife Janet, and some children as part of the presentation. To finish the concert, John "Santa" Sappington descended in a gondola-like sleigh amidst a snowfall of chopped paper to greet the audience and help usher in the holiday season.



The Acappella Choir begins the grand finale.

Sheila Millard and Michelle Shaw check Santa's perch for safety before the concert.

Business seems slow for Spanish Club member Bev Mills.

Rick Vandacar finds the convention is no place for a member of K.K.K.

Convention '79 Prompts Enthusiasm

Student delegates dressed as beer cans, grapes, Anita Bryant, and penguins marked the eighth annual North Eugene Nominating Convention for 1979.

Candidates spent many hours the two previous days campaigning in the Social Studies classes, while supporters prepared posters and constumes for the convention.

Convention '79 opened full of enthusiasm and nervous candidates. Social Studies classes were excused to watch the proceedings, but the bleachers were also crowded with spectators and supporters from other classes.

By the end of the day, and after many roll call ballots, Juniors Tracy Jones and John Dorn were nominated for A.S.B. President. Lori Lashway and Betsy Boyd were nominated for Vice-President.

In the general election held the following Tuesday, Jones was elected to the position of President, and Lashway took the post of Vice-President.

Other winners were Brad Stevens, treasurer, Gary Arne, Student Manager, Tracy Walton, School Board Representative, Joh Dorn, Parliamentarian and Karen Hayes, Historian.

Delegates cast their votes for the nomination of the next student body president.

Darren Rice finds a chance to tell Jim McCullough and Steve Erb about his dreams of becoming a New York Yankee.

Dave Richardson doesn't seem to think the humor in Kim Spangler's and Trish Spilman's note is as funny as they think.

Sheryl "Liberty" Lantz does her part to light up the convention.

Russell Strome decorates the gym with another poster before the convention.

Melodrama A New Style For North

"Ten Nights in a Bakery Barroom" was the winter performance given by the Fine Arts Department. It was an old fashioned melodrama mixed with comedy and tragedy.

It was the story of a young girl, Mary Morgan, who tries to save her father, Joe Morgan from alcoholism. His drinking finally causes an accident, the death of little Mary and Joe turns to a life of good.

Throughout the play, several Olio acts were given by the performers. Olio acts are song and dance routines that may or may not have anything to do with the play. They are given to entertain the audience during scene changes. A special "Olio curtain" was created for this purpose. Every character in the play had a chance to perform in one of these Olios.

A special addition to the play was the involvement of the audience. Everyone was invited to sing along to the songs, and the audience booed the villain and cheered their favorite character.

The play was held on Friday and Saturday nights of consecutive weekends, and, because of its popularity, was held over for a fifth performance.

The Can-Can girls entertain to the tune, "There is a Tavern in the Town."

Little Mary tries to convince her father, Joe Morgan, to come home with her.

Frank and Simon Slade join Mehitabel Cartwright and some of the Dancers and Singers in, "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon."

Disco Sound Still Popular

For the second year, Disco replaced bands as the most popular type of dancing music.

Many of the dances were run by North Eugene alumni Tony Ward and Brian Vandercar, who provided students with the chance to dance to their favorite popular songs and groups.

Dance contests were a frequent addition to the dances and usually prizes were awarded to the winners.

Several organizations sponsored dances throughout the year as fund raising events. Some of these groups included Lassies, DECA, rally, yearbook, and the baseball and tennis teams.

The disco sound seems to have captured the couples at an after the game dance.

Skits Spirited

Throughout football and basketball seasons, the rallies provided humorous and imaginative skits.

Among the most memorable was the one which featured the Varsity and J.V. rally personally introducing each player of the basketball team with a poem. Another was when Don Essig and John Sappington each took a pie in the face because of a bet won by the student body. The bet was if the students could fill up the bleachers at the last home game, which they did, the pies would be delivered at the next assembly.

Other skits included dressing up as opposing teams, such as the Springfield Millers and the Willamette Wolverines. Alum Tony Ward presented the K.N.E. news which was interrupted with commercials by the rally.

Also included were Lassies, yell kings, student manager Fifi Souers, and the faculty.

Linette Below and Carol Barnes don't seem to enjoy the life of a cowboy.

"Pinocchio"

Stromboli has secret plans for Pinocchio as he leads him to his wagon.

After the production of "Ten Nights in a Bakery Barroom," the Drama Department started work on the spring production "Pinocchio."

The play was performed May 23, 24, and 25 with matinees for grade school students. A great deal of time and talent went into the designing and making of the costumes which were a big part of the play.

One of the most spectacular scenes was the "Sea Ballet." In this scene Pinocchio searches for his lost father and encounters many creatures of the deep. Among them were fish, sea weeds, mermaids, snails, a clam, a crab, an octopus, starfish, and King Neptune.

Director Carl Markworth stated, "The play was a labor of love, all my ideas came true." He felt it was a priviledge to be the director and said he wasn't really needed because everyone did so well on their own.

There was one main complication that arose before the play could be performed — how to make Pinocchio's nose grow. The Drama Department turned to the student body hoping there would be an idea. Members of the cast were the winners who came up with the idea of using a real puppet head in place of Pinocchio's and a long stick to represent the nose growing. The cast members were treated to a night at Farrells Ice Cream Parlor for a prize.

The play was considered by many to be equally entertaining to both young and old.

Geppetto sings his "Little Puppet Song" while he makes Pinocchio dance.

"Goodbye Doesn't Mean Forever"

The Country Squires Inn was the setting for the May 26 Junior-Senior Prom. Couples dressed at their best enjoyed an evening of dancing with music provided by "Vamp." The theme for the annual event was, "Goodbye Doesn't Mean Forever."

Voting for the prom court differed from previous years. Instead of nominating at the prom, the votes were cast at school. As students bought tickets they voted for one senior girl. The day before the prom, the five girls with the most votes were announced and the students voted for one of the five which was crowned Queen at the prom.

The results were; Barb Burkman as the 1979 Prom Queen, and Taunia LeFort, Lorie Olson, Mary Roshau, and Nancy Yerrick as her court.

The dance was organized by the junior class members, with Brett Klein doing most of the coordinating. He was helped by Tina Caisse, John Dorn, Barb Dymock, Chris Gabbert, Tristan Hughes, Sue McFerrin, and Bonnie Munice. Advisor this year was Jim Carmicheal.

Queen Barb Burkman smiles excitedly as escort Steve Cole wonders what comes next.

Paying Debts Main Goal

Under the leadership of President Kevin Graves, the 1978-79 Executive Council began the year by paying off the Student Lounge debt. New benches, made by the woodshop classes, were used to furnish the lounge.

In addition to setting up and presiding over the student council meetings, the officers were also in charge of various committees. This helped to keep the Executive council involved as well as informed of each committee's activities.

Kevin spent a great deal of time and energy working with the district office in regarding North's vandalism money. This was the money that was not used in repairing damage by vandals during the prior year and so was given to the A.S.B.

New to the council was the role of "activities director.' The council allotted assemblies and dances to various sport and student groups.

One of the major events organized by the council, was the annual A.S.B. convention. The officers spent many hours making posters, preparing the ballots and setting up the gym.

Committees Have Big Year

The student body committee system was more vigorous and alive than it had been in recent years, however, there were only three committees organized during the year. According to Social Studies Chairman Steve Handran, "this was based on the thinking that fund raising committees should be dropped so that clubs, classes and organizations would be able to make money."

The budget committee's main function was to allocate funds to various school organizations and activities.

The election committee was responsible for the annual A.S.B. and class officer elections.

Honorable Highlander committee selected students once a month for their outstanding achievements in such areas as athletics, music, drama and school service.

Honor Society Adds Eleven

National Honor Society increased its membership to 24, with the addition of 11 new students.

The four criteria students were judged on included scholarship, leadership, character (honesty, responsibility, fairness, courtesy, tolerance and cooperation), and service, both inside and outside of school.

The new members were initiated with the traditional candlelight ceremony in April, where the acceptance requirements were explained, along with a background of each student.

Excitement Sparks Lassies

Bound together by hard work and determination, the Lassies main activity during the year was providing half-time entertainment at home games.

Lead by President Becky Fifer, Vice President Sue Pietzold, Secretary Lynn Crance, and Treasurer Marci Seghetti, the Lassies had a fun and exciting year.

During the summer, several car washes and bake sales were held, while buttons were sold during football season. In addition, spirit flags were sold and the group sponsored the Valentine's Dance in February.

The girls contributed much of their time to school service, by helping out at registration, serving at the football banquet, continuing basketball 'secret pals' and acting as runners at the convention.

Lassies were also kept busy, holding two pep assemblies, performing at the Oregon-USC game, and attending the Hi-Steppers Dance Competition in January, where they received high marks.

Rallies Show Spirit To All

As preparation for the busy year ahead, the Rally Squads traveled to Portland and Salem for cheerleading camps. Here they gained ideas for many new cheers, routines and pep assemblies.

After long, hard practices the football, soccer and cross country teams were ready for the orange drink, banana splits and other refreshments the Rally provided for them during the summer.

To raise funds, they sold advertising space on booster cushions to businesses in the Eugene area. The cushions brought in approximately $800, and were distributed to students at the first home football game. The money was used to help cut down the various expenses throughout the year.

During football season the Rally was kept busy making posters, selling spirit ribbons, providing a rooter bus to Marshfield, planning Homecoming week and postering each player's house the night before home games.

Basketball season proved to be an exciting time and the group was kept on the go conducting pep assemblies, selling half-time raffle tickets and holding an end of the season kidnap breakfast for the Varsity basketball team. Keeping with tradition, the Varsity Rally performed the Highland Fling at the North-South Civil War game.

Adding enthusiasm and spirit to the basketball games were North's three Yell Kings: Kevin Olson, Brad Schoen and John Dorn.

Tartan Finds New Location

Due to the construction, the 'Home of the Tartan' was moved to a new location. Adjusting to new facilities slowed production of the staff, but they picked up steam as the year progressed. Another major setback was having to adjust to doing their own photo finishing; Regardless of the changes, the staff still enjoyed many good times including the annual Christmas party, putting on the Spring dance and treats every Friday. According to editor Charmaine Lovelace, "Working on the yearbook was a great learning experience and a lot of fun for everyone involved."

The school paper, the Caledonian, was published often. The paper provided good coverage of sports and other current school topics. Senior, Rhonda Revelle, served as first semester editor, while the editorship was filled on a rotating basis the final half of the year.

Legal Club New At North

A newly formed club at North was sponsored by the Chapter of Lane County Association of Legal Secretaries.

The "Highlander association of legal Secretaries" was for all students interested in legal occupations. The group heard guest speakers such as judges and other professionals speak.

Serving as officers were President Colene Hendren, Vice President Lyn Basel, Secretary Teresa Hickey, Treasurer Teresa Huffman, and membership chairman Sue Pietzold.

Another group at North was the Chess Team.

Due to inexperience and a small membership, the Highlander team ended their season with a 3-6 record.

Although the six member team practiced daily at lunch and during free periods, they finished in ninth place at District.

KRVM Gets Equipment

The replacement of stolen equipment was a major obstacle for the KRVM staff this year. With help from the A.S.B. fund, the $800 worth of equipment stolen during the construction was replaced, enabling the four returning DJ's, Bryan Hurley, Mark Delp, Scott Gibson and Mark Bachmeier, to carry on the Highlander sound.

This year the staff aired five football games, one quarter of the basketball jamboree and five home basketball games.

A new addition was the KBDF Radio-sponsored 'High School Reporter.' Brian Still filled the position for North, reporting each night on Highlander activities and events during his alloted 30 second time slot.

Another organization at school which dealt with the media was Quill & Scroll. This honorary society initiated its members in late May. Each member was awarded a pin and a certificate for publications.

Debaters Have Winning Year

According to coach Bonnita Stahlberg, it was a very good year for the debate team.

There were fourteen entries at state competition, with winners including Dan McFall, who placed first, and Tim McFall who placed third, in Lincoln-Douglas Debate, North's Oxford Debate team, Brenda Getty, Rick Upp, Kelly Prekins, and Laurie Clark placed second, while North's Cross Examination team, Betsy Boyd and Tracy Walton, captured third place.

Among the individual winners at state were Lisa Broyles, who placed second in Poetry Reading, and Rick Upp, who placed third in after-dinner speaking.

Throughout the year, thirty students competed in sixteen tournaments and took part in such activities as speech concerts and the spring desert programs.

The D.E.C.A. Chapter started the year with new Marketing Instructor, Susie Marthaller. This enthusiastic advisor helped the group win many honors.

Several students were sent to State Competition, in Portland, to compete in such areas as Advertising, Apparel and Accessories, General Merchandising and Food Services. Four students, Greg Schulze, Tawna Jones, David Bird and Becky Fifer each took State honors.

Language Clubs Raise Money

To raise money for various activities, language clubs participated in many fund raising events.

German Club held car washes, sold Advent wreaths and calendars, and celebrated May Day by selling daisies. Money made from these activities went towards a roller skating party, a weekend trip to the coast and the Annual Spring Foreign Language Picnic.

A weekend in Sun River, a Halloween party and the Picnic is what the Spanish Club had in mind while raising money throughout the year. Activities, selling Val-o-Grams and running in the Jog-a-Thon.

A candy sale and selling their wares at the Christmas Festival paid off as the French Club battled the moguls for a weekend at Hoodoo Ski Bowl. The club also held a Halloween party and contributed to the Spring Picnic.

Choir Has Fun

The Highland Pipers, Acappella and Chorale each had an eventful year. According to first year director George Jones, "I was very pleased with the students here. They were very cooperative and supportive."

The Pipers traveled to Pleasant Hill and around the city to perform, as well as participating in the Pops Concert. The nineteen member group made most of their money selling Christmas wrap.

Acappella and chorale participated in a 'parents only' concert at the beginning of the year, the Christmas Festival and Spring Concert.

Taking a break, the Acappella Choir spent a weekend at Camp Westwind, where the only singing they did was around the campfire.

String Ensemble, a smaller version of Orchestra, also participated in the Christmas program, North Regional Orchestra Concert, and Fine Arts Concert in late May.

Violinist Alice Smith, was selected to the six-state Northwest Honor Orchestra.

Bands Give Many Concerts

The bands had a busy year, as they participated in 18 concerts.

The Concert and Intermediate bands served 500 turkey dinners prior to performing at the Christmas Festival.

Pep band provided the music at the football and basketball games as well as performing at the pep assemblies.

Hosting the Tommy Dorsey Band and performing with top drummer Hank Andrews, was an added highlight to the Stage band's year.

The band had three award winners in Patti Hart, Directors Award; Ron Leland, John Philip Sousa Award; and special 'Roses' Award went to Betty Byerly.

Highlanders Have Disappointing Season

"Inexperience" is the key word in summing up the 1978 Football season for the Highlanders, who went a disappointing 1-8 on the season.

According to Head Coach Hank Bendix, this was a young team with a lot of potential for theupcoming years. With 21 returning starters, that's a positive outlook.

Due to youth and inexperience, we couldn't do as well as we expected," commented Bendix. "In order to be successful in 5AAA, you have to have a solid senior ball club. The kids learned a lot and next year we'll be ready.

North, despite its low scores, had strong points throughout each game. Although Churchill took a victory over the Highlanders, 48-21, North came back from a 0-28 halftime trail to score three touchdowns. Although the total rushing yardage was only 90 yards, Quarterbacks Brian Osterhout and sophomore Brad Goodwin combined throwing power to give the Highlanders 224 yards in passing. In their victory over North Bend, Rich Auld and Kent Bostick were the dominating factors of second half action. North led the way 7-0 through most of the game, after scoring a touchdown in the second quarter. The Bulldogs, however, scored a touchdown in the last three seconds, making the score 7-6. North Bend then tried for a two point conversion, but failed as Auld and Bostick stopped the Bulldogs' carrier, giving the Highlanders a close but secure victory, 7-6.

The Awards Banquet concluded the season, giving the special awards combined to only three players. Kent Bostick, who was voted by his fellow teammates as the MVP Offensive Player, also was selected by the coaches for the Arnold Mulheim Award. Bostick shared the Team Captain honors with Randy Lawrence. Lawrence was also awarded the Most Inspirational Player Award. Duane Ramsey ended the Honor Awards by receiving the MVP Defensive Player Award.

J.V.'s Work For Successful Season

With a blend of juniors and talented sophomores, the North J.V. Football team finished the season with a 6-3 record and second place in district.

The Scots started the season winning their first five games in a row. The team then dropped a couple of tough games, losing only by an accumulated score of 14, before bouncing back to play their best game of the season against Churchill. In that battle, the Scots beat the previously undefeated Lancers, 10-9.

The J.V. Clan went into the season finale against South Eugene with a chance to tie Churchill for the league championship. Unfortunately, the Scots' defense was not up to par, and the Axemen prevailed, 10-9. First year Head Coach Jim Schmieding commented on the season. "The kids gained valuable experience for Varsity football, and had a great time, both of which are important."

To wrap up their season, the J.V. team had a banquet, at which awards were presented. Pat Shannon was given the MVP Defensive Award and MVP Special Team Award, while Scott Jackson received the MVP Offensive Award. Chris Christopherson was awarded Most Inspirational.

The team puts their heads together for another victory plan.

Young Teams Get Experience

According to Dennis Davis, North Eugene had a "young cross country team," both in boys and girls competition.

This year was the first time in three years that the girls had a complete team. The experience they received this year should prove to be an asset for next year's team. The girls' team showed great effort in all their meets, looking their best in a victory over Thurston, 8-4. They went on to place 7th in district.

The boys, equally inexperienced, displayed great courage and stamina by putting their best foot forward at all times. However, they captured only two wins, defeating Sheldon, 51-49, and Willamette, 52-51. They went on to place 6th in district.

Boys Challenged In Gymnastics

Walking away with a sturdy 6th place overall on the season, the boys' gymnastic team experienced a competitive season.

"This year was a challenge," said Coach Bob Leach, "the guys did a very good job, considering they couldn't work out over the summer because of construction's last details."

They had a tight match against Sheldon at the beginning of their season and pulled through with a big win. In district competition, North's all-around competitors Doug Campbell and Team Captain Jeff Gutridge held ground in all events, helping the Clan place sixth.

Campbell and Gutridge went on to receive the Scholar Athlete and Most Valuable Gymnast Awards respectively.

"We had a great record," said Coach Shawna Jones, "considering our facilities weren't as good as some of the other schools'."

Michele Evearts led the way with high scores in all events, and went to State for her second year in a row and both years she made the finals. In addition, Michele took Most Valuable Gymnast honors, while Most Inspirational went to Deanna Ruland and Most Improved to Laura Ahlgren.

Jones was looking forward to next year with all returnees except for this year's team captain, Korrie Maxwell.

Spikers End Season With 6-3 Record

North Eugene's Spikers, under coach Jimmy Dowdy, ended the season with a 6-3 record. They lost only to district winners Marshfield and Springfield, and to third place Thurston.

The girls advanced to district in third place league tie, but fell short in the first round to Springfield, 15-4, 16-14. They then were defeated by Churchill in second round action, placing them fifth in league.

The season concluded with an awards banquet, at which Patty Wilson received the Superserver award with 107 points on the season. Wilson and Rhonda Revelle shared Most Valuable Player honors, and Kelly Lonien was awarded Most Improved.

The J.V. squad, guided by coach Tammy Hodney, finished 5-4 on the season. Sophomore Lynn Qualley was a key factor of the team.

Boys Earn State Trip

Coach Ron Cole took the Varsity soccer team on a well-earned trip to State. With an outstanding defense, they won their first State playoff game, beating Central Catholic, 4-1. They lost their second game to Lincoln, in an unfortunate dual, 0-4, making them fifth overall in State action.

Their outstanding defensive players consisted of Jerry Stutz as sweep, Al McQueen at fullback, and Gary Arne at goalie. Outstanding offensive players included Spencer Tabbut and Bret Crowell, who both scored against Central Catholic.

Varsity Soccer Takes Second

Losing only to Sheldon, 1-0, the soccer team finished with a strong 7-1-1 record overall on the season, allowing them to go to State competition. Before the season got underway, the Clan was expected to finish in the bottom four of the league. Their great effort, combined with talented players, helped them to achieve their goal.

North's best action, showed in the second half of play, where they won several key games, including their victories over South Eugene and Churchill.

"Although we lacked much individual talent," commented coach Ron Cole, "we made up for it by playing an aggressive, pressure-type attack game. Basically, we out hustled stronger, more talented teams."

A lot of the talent came from some individuals. Spencer Tabbut, transfer from Seattle where he played year round, with his speed and poise contributed greatly to the team.

J.V.'s Improve On Last Year's Record

Interest in the North Eugene Soccer programs spread to the junior varsity level. For the first time, the team had a full-time coach.

Despite several schedule difficulties in the early season, the team finished strong, concluding the year by improving the previous season record to 5-3-1.

The season's turning point occurred at half-time of the second match against Churchill. According to coach Warren Tucker, the players finally realized why they were out on the pitch, and began to play with the intensity and enthusiasm that they were capable of.

Defense keyed the team's success. North held its opponents scoreless in the last three and one half games.

Coach Tucker summed up the season saying, "The team played well, but when they played poorly, it was a factor that contributed toward a positive team attitude."

After a slow start, the girls' soccer team rallied to beat top ranked Churchill and salvage a 5-5-1 record.

"The girls totally improved," said Coach Lu Hutchens. "Overall we had a pretty good season, considering the training mishap." (Referring to the dismissal of nine players.)

The squad was led by Lisa Tabbut who was tops in scoring with 12 goals. Kristi Schulze and Jill Drury were selected Most Valuable, while Most Inspirational went to Kip Foster and Most Improved to Brenda Getty. The girls had a young team with only one senior.

"Next year the girls should have a good chance at taking the district title," Hutchens said, "There is a lot of good talent in the sophomores and they should come out on top."

Water Polo New

Lack of enough boys made the first water-polo team in North's history Co-educational. Because of this, the boys accumulated few victories, but defeating South Eugene 6-5. Mark Myers and Richard Lauritzen were major factors in the victory.

On the other hand, the girls had a successful season for their first year. As there were only two district teams, the Highlanders went into state competition in an eight team single elimination tournament. North defeated Tigard in a tough battle which ended 11-10, suffered a loss to Cottage Grove, with the score 9-4. The girls then went on to place 3rd in state, sophomore Gretchen Wilbur was the leading scorer, while Charmaine Lovelace played exceptional defense.

Boys Have Building Season

The Boys' Swim Team suffered from lack of depth needed to take the 5AAA bid. The group landed a tight fifth place mark overall in District with a 2-5 record, while maintaining eleventh place in State.

"We simply didn't have the depth needed to gain points," stated coach Bill Kuzmer. "That would have made all the difference in the outcome of meets on more then one occasion."

Team captains Richard Lauritzen and Mark Myers were definitely a helpful source to the team during the season. Their effort broke two school records in the 200-yard medley relay and the 200-yard individual medley, while Pete Lauritzen broke the 100-yard backstroke record by 1:10 in District and :18 in State.

Although the team record was not strong, Coach Kuzmer felt thay had gained strength throughout the year. As the season progressed, Gary Orth, Brian Halderson, and Pete Lauritzen kept the meets exciting and competitive, especially against Sheldon and South Eugene.

Lauritzen and Myers were chosen the Most Valuable Swimmers while Dwayne Colombe was awarded Most Improved. Brian Halderson was awarded Most Inspirational.

Girls Take 5AAA Crown

The Girls' Swim Team captured the 5AAA crown again, having a flawless 7-0 record for the season. They went on to place fourth in State.

The swimmers had a variety of strong sophomores and juniors which proved to be the backbone of the team, while new freshmen gave a steady aid to the group. Freshman Linda Bell did a fine job throughout the season, exhibiting super swimming in all events.

It was Linda who helped change the team's momentum at the District meet by winning the 100-yard butterfly, along with a District record. Bell was the State champion in the 100-yard breaststroke, setting a school record as well as a personal best.

North was also inspired by Senior Charmaine Lovelace, who not only provided leadership but swam in both winning relays at District while qualifying in three events in the finals of State competition.

Six school records were broken during District competition, while two new District records were added. While at State, the Clan broke an additional three records, and Bell set a State record in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Wrestlers Have Successful Season; Await Upcoming Year

The wrestling team had an explosive season, collecting a 15-2-1 overall record, along with fine exhibitions.

Head coach George Krupicka was impressed with the team effort. Indeed, there were exciting matches throughout the season, with some wrestlers displaying fine showmanship. In one meet, Junior Larry Christianson managed to secure a 4-3 decision over the defending District Champion from South Eugene, while Junior Brad Michael took back-to-back victories in District consolation to pull away with 4th place. Junior Derrick Jee also confirmed his victory from earlier in the season by defeating his Churchill opponent again in District, advancing Derrick to the finals for the first time in his career.

Outstanding matches were not the only highlights of the Clan's season. North's Doug Dover had an impressive 30-3-0 record, while Ron Hanson countered with a secure 30-2-0. Eric Krupicka also contributed with his 27-3-2 mark.

State put the Highlanders in good position, with Dover stealing 2nd in District and placing 3rd in State. Although Mike Hanson and Jee did not place in State, each came away with 2nd place in District for their weight division.

Girls End Season 8-10

The Girls' Basketball team was an enthusiastic group, but fell short in the scoring department as they compiled an 8-10 mark on the season.

They started tough, playing Roseburg in non-league action. North took the first game 35-25, with sophomore Kristi Schulze leading all scorers with 10 points. The second game did not prove as successful, however, although Schulze again led all scorers with 12 points.

In league action, the girls met Sheldon, and proved that their strength could, indeed, come through. North made a first-quarter stretch over the Irish, 14-2, and maintained the lead throughout the first half. In the second half, the Irish surprised the Highlanders, bringing the game to within two points. North showed who was the stronger by defeating Sheldon, 40-38.

Senior Rhonda Revelle and junior Pam Drew were the two leading scorers for the Clan, each sharing high point honors in six games apiece. Drew averaged 13.6 points during her high-game series, while Revelle contributed 11.

Drew showed an impressive .415 field goal percentage, while Revelle shot a high .791 from the line. The team as a whole had a good season at the line, sinking 112 of 213 for a 52% average while handling a 36% average from the field.

Girls Start Season Strong

The Girls' J.V. basketball squad got off to a good start going 7-2 in the first half of play, but fell in the second half, ending the season with a disappointing 11-7 record.

Led by sophomore Sabrina Matthews, averaging 7.5 points per game, the girls jumped out to win four of their first five games.

In the second half with a 9-3 record and a good chance at taking the District J.V. title, the girls lost four straight games. This shot down any hopes of a championship.

"The girls really pulled out a lot of tough games in the beginning," said Coach Lee Temple, "but they had a letdown in the early part of the second half. Sabrina really did well in the first half but then had trouble with injuries."

Lori Lashway is puzzled by her "award."

North Starts Strong

The boys' basketball team started with a strong showing but had dwindled to a 12-11 mark overall on the season.

"The team just lacked experience," explained Coach Terry Viohl. Not only did five of the crew come up from the sophomore team last year to play varsity spots, but a great deal of them had never played competitive ball in the past. Viohl commented, "Because we played all of them this year, they now have the experience needed for next year. They'll be the dominant factor."

The Highlanders showed their strength throughout the first half, losing only one of their District games to Churchill in a tough dual which ended 61-64. North dominated the standings, defeating their opponents by an average of 9.3 points per game. Junior Darren Rice, the only player with varsity experience, helped the team with an average of 21 points a game, while shooting over 50% on the season. Teammate Billy Dufek also aided the cause with an incredible 153 assists, which created a new record at North. Meanwhile, on the free throw line, Kent Bostick shot an outstanding 82% sinking 19 of his 23 attempts.

The second half action did not prove to be so successful, however, as the netters broke their streak, losing 7 of their 10 games, thus making their chances for the State playoff berth slim. The Clan had to stage a pre-playoff game with Sheldon for a spot in the regular playoffs. In that game, the Highlanders fought a brave battle but lost to the Irish in the last 3 seconds, 60-61.

Awards for outstanding players included Bill Lewis, Outstanding Senior; Brad Goodwin, Best Defensive; Dave Hall, Most Inspirational; Darren Rice, Best Offensive; and Keith Baltrusch, who won Most Improved.

Scot Send, 10-12

The J.V. Scots were not as successful as they had intended, ending the season with a 10-12 mark.

Their record, however, did not reflect the individual efforts of the team, as each player had strong qualities.

Most all of the Clan shot 46% or better from the field, with sophomore Richard Aanrud shooting 54% to lead all scorers. Aanrud ended his season with 102 points. Meanwhile, sophomores Scott Jackson and Brent Rick sank 83 and 81% respectively from the line. Jackson put in 43 of 52 attempts, while Rice chucked away 38 of 47. Rice accumulated the highest number of total points, reaching 240, while Junior Rick Wendland placed second in statistics with 207.

On the rebound scale, sophomore Joe Brunner pulled down 58 on the season, and Junior Joe Seagraves aided the Scots with 55 of his own.

Sophs Have Good Season

The Sophomore Team showed great endurance throughout the season to complete play with an impressive 16-5 mark.

The Sophs were led at the beginning of the season by sophomore Jon Oxman, who averaged 18 points in seven games before he was advanced to the Junior Varsity squad.

After an upset by Central Catholic in non-league action, the team won ten of their games in a row by impressive marks. Different team members shared high-point honors each game, while sophomore Jay McBee led the remaining games with an average of 15 points to aid North in its victories.

"The boys worked hard, and earned their victories," said coach Ray Johnson, "They'll be good J.V. material next year."

Team Has Fun Year

The slopes seemed all uphill for the North Eugene ski team, but they showed a lot of optimism for the year.

The girls were led by senior Kelly Clawson's fourth and fifth places finishes in two of the six races. The best finish in a single race for the girls as a team was fourth at the Willamette Pass. Many times they "did not finish" due to the lack of girls completing the course.

Junior Steffen Hulegaard led the boys with two ninth place finishes along with a tenth. Doug Wicks also contributed a sixth place on the slalom at the Willamette Pass. The best finish for the boys as a team was fourth, but they came close to placing higher many times.

"Potentially," said coach Jerry Newell, "we had the best team we've ever had. Even though we didn't win, we still had a lot of fun."

Next year looks good for the boys' team with all returners except for senior Dave Richardson. The girls are hoping for some newcomers. Their only returning skiier will be junior Paula Sahr.

Girls Take First

The Girls' golf team got in the swing of things as they experienced a good early season showing.

They opened with a tough match at the Taft Invitational at Salishan. The girls had a long day, wrapping up their match by tieing South Salem, as both teams shot 216.

Their next match proved to be their most successful, as they traveled on to North Bend and walked away with an easy victory, outstroking the Bulldogs, 178 to 216.

The Highlanders were led by Junior sensation Sharon Hadley who, accompanied by teammate Lori Lashway, led the Clan to their second straight District 5AAA Title. Hadley shot 82 at District, while Lashway contributed a 95. Senior Marla Schulenburg's score of 104 was also an asset in North's victory, and sophomore rookie Kristi Schulze added her score of 114 to clench their win.

As a team, North won by 26 strokes, defeating Reedsport 396 to 422, with North Bend scoring third at 492.

Hadley finished first in District and went on to place second in State for her second year in a row.

Sophomores Make Up Boys' Golf Team

This year's Boys' golf team was composed entirely of sophomores, who gave their best shot at high school competition, winding up in sixth place at District.

"I expect the next two years will bring us good teams," said first-year coach Hank Bendix. "We had eight sophomores on our team this year and if they stay with it, we'll be top contenders."

The Highlanders were led by John Oxman, who was voted Most Valuable Golfer. Oxman was just four strokes away from qualifying for District.

In their first competitive match, the Boys came through by defeating the Willamette Wolverines and the Springfield Millers. In the "Gld Coast Classic," which holds four players to a team, the Highlanders placed fifth out of eight contenders. After the tournament, they went on to defeat Springfield again on two separate occasions, while pulling a second place win in the Thurston Invitational Tournament.

Highlanders Capture 5AAA Crown Again

After a week of baseball during spring vacation in the sunshine of California, the North Eugene Baseball team came back to take their third District championship in four years.

North was then eliminated in the State playoffs by Aloha of Portland, 6-2. The game started slow, but in the second inning, an Aloha player hit a solo homerun over the right field fence. The Highlanders fought back to score two runs in the bottom of the second inning but Aloha spread four runs over the next four innings to take it.

The team started on the wrong foot after their hot streak in California when they lost their first league game to North Bend, 3-1. Then they began to roll with four straight wins, including a big 12-3 win over highly ranked Churchill. The Clan then lost two of their last three to Springfield and South Eugene and ended the first half with a 6-3 mark.

In the second half, the Clan put their four months of winter work together and won seven of eight games to clinch the title with one regular season game left. North ended the season with a 13-5 record in league, 21-8 overall, and the Highlanders' third District championship in four years.

Senior catcher Randy Lawrence got the high honor of Most Valuable Player in the league, but peculiarly did not make the first or second team All-District. Three other standouts, out-fielders Kelly Pfaller and Keith Winterbottom along with utility infielder Bob Knowles, received first team honors. Designated hitter Bryan Osterhout was voted to the second team while Lawrence and Charlie Paylor received Honorable Mention.

Girls Take 5AAA Title Fall Short In State

Despite the young and inexperienced players, the North Eugene girls' softball team did exceptionally well. With only 4 returning starters, North swept the league with a 14-2 record. The only losses came from Sheldon and Churchill which they had to forfeit for using an ineligible player. Season record stood at 21-6.

Representing the 5AAA at state, North swung past Hillsboro 5-4, Reynolds 1-0, and Marshall 6-2 before meeting Aloha in the championship game. Against the Warriors, North found itself behind 9-3 after four innings. The Mighty Highlanders battled back for two runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, and one run in the sixth inning. They added four runs in the seventh to go ahead 11-9. The Clan took the field for the last of the seventh, three outs from victory.

Aloha scored a quick run off pitcher Rhonda Revelle, who came into the game with a 13-3 record. Two walks loaded the bases, followed by two outs. Then a Warrior who had earlier hit a homerun came up to the plate. Working the count to 3-2, she then hit a shot past senior centerfielder Lisa Evearts. Evearts relayed it in to shortstop Rene Manfredi who hit catcher Patty Wilson with a good throw at the plate. In a close play, the umpire called the Aloha runner safe, and the game and championship were lost.

Later North's head coach, Lee Temple, said the girls had a fantastic year. He felt they represented North Eugene very well in the league and at state.

Netters, Take Fall

North's racket club strived their hardest in season action, only to end up with an unfortunate 6-7 mark.

The male netters opened with a difficult match against the Willamette Wolverines. Junior Tracy Jones had a tight battle in the first singles spot, rallying a full match, before falling to a 4-6, 5-7 defeat. Junior teammate Jeff Noakes likewise ended with a 4-6, 5-7 record, playing the number two position equally as tough.

Senior Tom Hankins completed the singles scale at number three. His match went to a drooling three sets, and wound up with a 7-6, 4-6, 3-6 upset.

In doubles action, Jones and Noakes paired up at the number one spot for a strong victory over South Albany, defeating the northern rival 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 in the first round and 6-4, 5-7, 7-6 in the second round. The remainder of the season allowed Juniors Terry Rhoads and Brad Stevens to play the number one position. They, too, had a tough battle with South Albany as number two, but pulled through 3-6, 7-6, 6-1. Likewise their victory over Churchill 6-4, 7-6 helped North maintain a close race with the Lancers.

In District, the Highlanders were not as successful, taking a disappointing ninth place tie overall.

The first doubles team of senior Ann Kries and junior Tristan Hughes aided the Highlanders with their 11-1 record. They went on to become first seed in District, but unfortunately were eliminated in the third round competition by a competitive South Eugene team, 3-6, 5-7. Senior Tammy Solar and junior Michelle Werner made up the second doubles team with an equally impressive mark of 11-1, but also fell short of State hopes in the first round, losing in three sets.

Sophomore Korin Hughes gave her best shot in the number one singles position, losing only one of her ten matches. Korin also became seeded for District as number three, landing a fourth place and representing the team at State competition.

The team also had support from senior Mary Roshau, who played the second singles position. Her victory over a Willamette opponent 1-6, 6-4, 7-6, allowed North to avoid a loss and thus tied the Wolverines, 4-4.

Team Shows Effort

The boys' and girls' track teams showed great individual talent although their record reflected a difficult season, winding up ninth and tenth place finishes in District.

The Highlanders were strong in some field events, with Junior Darren Rice showing his skill in the long jump and triple jump. Rice's lengthy flights of 21'11" and 43'6½", respectively, allowed him to capture the title in most meets. His triple jump effort of 44' 7¾" at State brought him a respectable fifth, just 2'6½" off the school record.

Other areas of the field events included shot put, where Juniors Ed Schlosser and Terry Outcalt made personal bests as well as placing in many meets. Schlosser threw 50'9½" at the Roseburg Invitational, placing second, while Outcalt tossed a 49'9½" at the Axemen Relays to take third.

In the running events, Rice upheld most of the sprints, dashing 11.5 in the 100-meter and :52.6 in the 400-meter race. Junior Rich Sears ran a close second to the 400-meter with a time of :52.7.

The girls had a slow season, due to the lack of participants. Sophomores Kip Foster and Jolene Leonard doubled in both the track and field areas to keep the Clan going. Sophomore Vanessa Hall also was an asset, sprinting to a time of :12.9 in the 100-meter dash, qualifying her for State.

Junior Ed Schlosser sends the shot put to a new record.

Academics

To the Class of 1979

I wish to take this opportunity to extend best wishes to the students in the class of 1979. You are a very unique class at North, having lived through a major remodeling project, a state high school basketball championship, and two principals. For one class of students to make it through such major changes in three years is quite an accomplishment.

Each member of this class should feel proud that they have made it through life's first big hurdle — the high school diploma. This is simply the beginning of a long career of a continuing education program.

This has been a very good year for North Eugene. Overall student behavior has been excellent, attendance has improved considerably, and vandalism has decreased. All of you can be proud of the fact that North is a great school and you had the chance to go here. Those of us who remain will continue to try and make it a better place for those who follow you.

Remember one important thing as you leave; "There are a lot of good people in this world. Look for the good, not bad, because life's too short not to!"

Good luck to you all!

An efficient Gwen Olson finds the proper papers for a worried Don Essig.

Administration Makes Big Changes

The administration once again experienced a major change as Elementary Principal Don Essig took over the helm. Bill Personnen, an Asst. Principal at South Eugene also moved to North. Returning Administrators were Asst. Principals Betty Bergman and Dan Barnum. Together they formed one of the most productive administrations at North. A good example of this responsive administration was the extension of the lunch period from 45 minutes to 1 hour. Also using the public announcement system, music was piped into the halls for the benefit of the students. Throughout the year the administration continued their policy of always being readily available to the students and faculty.

One of the most used areas of the school was the counseling center where students were guided in a number of ways. The crunch of students seeking help was eased by the guide program. Students could count on the department to keep tabs on their attendance and assist when problems arose. One of the more useful areas of help available to the students dealt with their standings and credit hours. Any student found lacking in academic areas could find help from one of the members of the Clan. The high interest of students in career choice was probably one of the most used area in the Counseling Dept.

English Changes

The biggest change that went into effect in the English Department this year was the reduction of classes and staff members, according to Department Chairperson Doug Doornink. The one advantage to this reduction is that there was an equal balance of both writing and literature classes.

Two new teachers were added to the English staff; Kristi SanRomani, who taught Basic Writing and Morphographic Spelling, and Victoria Payton who taught Literature classes .

The only new course that was offered was Introduction to Literature designed for students needing basic literary analysis. Next year the class would be required for all sophomores; one semester of Expository Writing I and one semester of Literature.

Several classes traveled to Ashland to view the Shakespearean plays while others watched a wide variety of acting at Oregon Reperatory Theatre; and Bonnita Stahlberg's Debate Team walked away with their share of awards and then some after a highly successful season.

"One thing we've accomplished this year," said Doornink, "is that the teachers in this department have developed a real consistency as far as grading papers and all around grading techniques are concerned. And I think that North Eugene on the whole offers a wider variety of English programs than any other school in the district."

Auditorium A New Addition

Ron Lancaster prepares for the perils of his next class.

Social Studies Department experienced flexability that it has never had before with the completion of the Mini-Auditorium. The space proved versatile with Governor Bob Straub visiting and speaking to over 250 students in the fall, and a mock trial held in the facility spring term. Another feature of the room was its capability of being divided into four separate smaller class rooms.

An experimental class was the combination of three teachers and classes forming a Plan Two class called Community Concerns.

Enrollment remained steady in all classes, but picked up in classes that dealt with human behavior, like Human Experience and Psychology.

Steve Handran points out the proper way to write a term paper to Debbie Gough.

Pond A Problem

According to Science Department Chairperson Bud Kaspar, the department concentrated on getting settled in their new facilities. It involved correcting remodeling plans, organizing students work areas and arranging equipment in storage space.

One new teacher was added to the science staff, Jill Hermanson, who taught Investigating the Earth and Universe class. Career Cluster Laboratory Science, taught by Bob Saxton, was the only new course offered this year. It offered job related training in laboratory occupations such as medical aid assistant, veterinarian assistant and laboratory tester and technician.

The pond was the only major problem that remains to be solved.

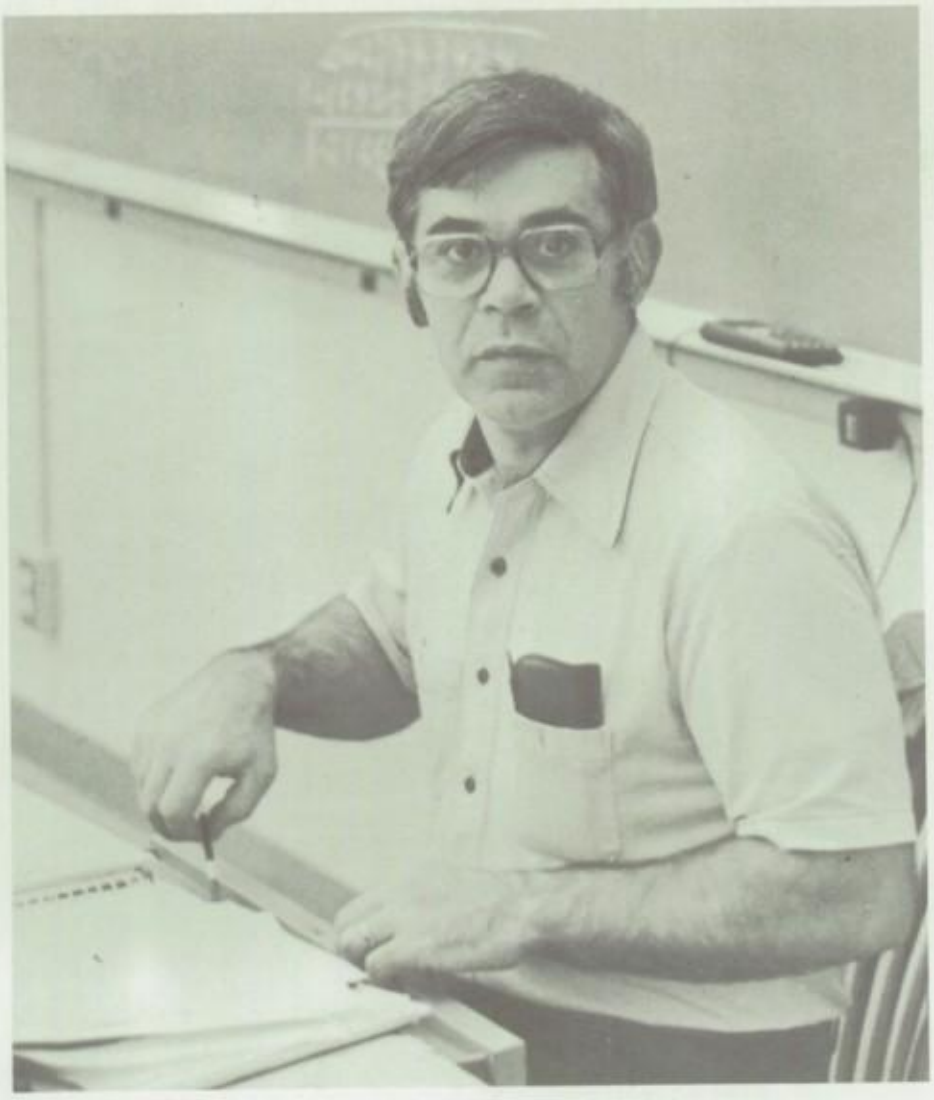
Chemistry teacher Bud Kasper demonstrates the elements of organic acetylenes.

Seniors Sherry Eckert and Barb Burkman don't appear to be "having a ball" as they complete their science projects.



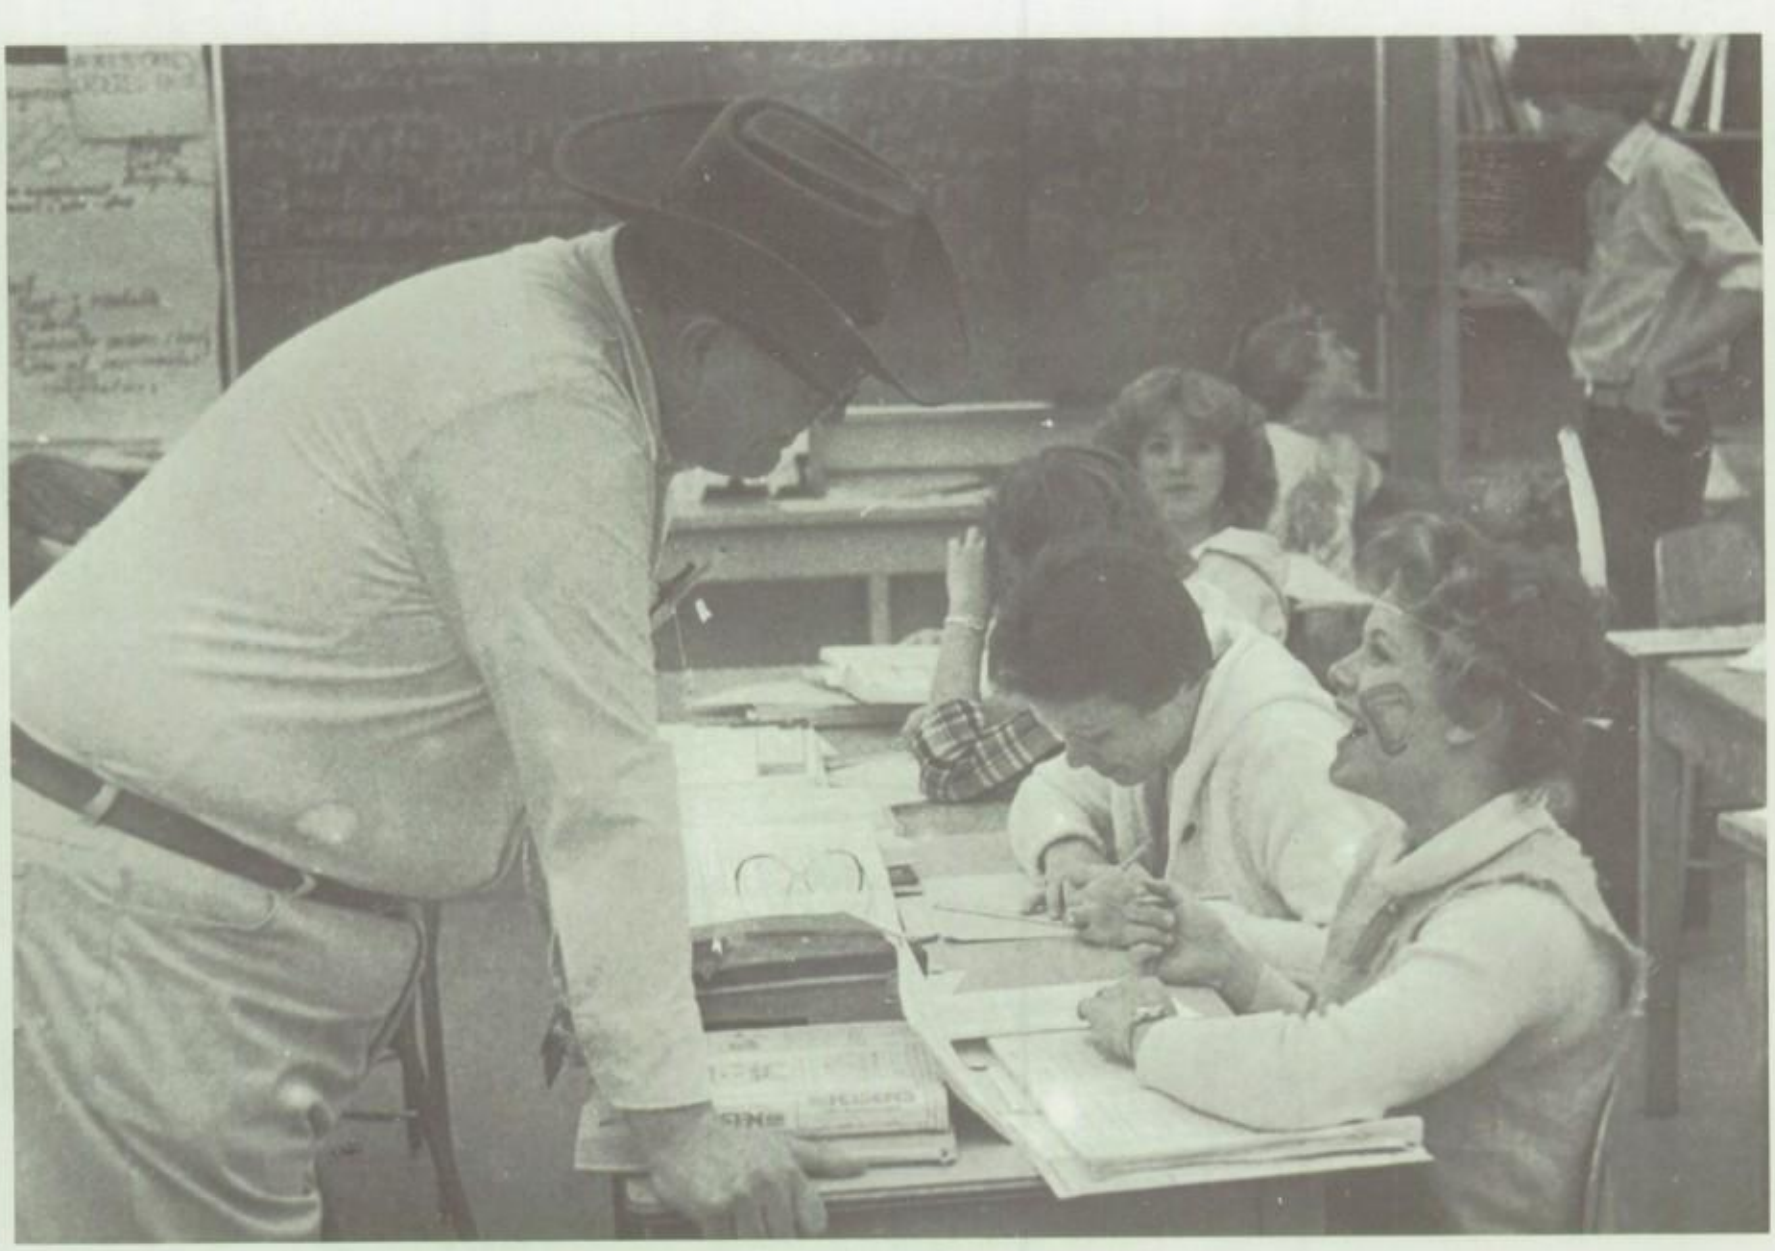
George Krupicka never bats an eye at getting caught in the act.

Center Nears Completion

Math Center moved closer to completion with the addition of three new sliding glass doors and new furniture. In addition three more doors were scheduled for installation during the next year.

Another improvement was in the facilities for the Computer Room. It was soundproofed so its availability to the students was increased. Another feature was Math 3 classes being introduced to the computer so students could make use of it.

Also for the first time in over five years, the department had a woman teacher. Jill Hermanson filled the void left when Ray Gross took a leave of absence.



"Indian Chick" Kelly Geiger laughs off Wendall "Tex" Hall's corny sense of humor.

New School Store Opens

Business Education Department started the year by opening the new school store. The store, located by the main office, was managed by teacher Sue Marthaller, and proved to be a big success.

Another important event was when the school's first Business Education Department Chairperson, Maxine Moorehead retired. She was the chairperson from 1957-1972, and taught typing after that. Assistant Principal Dan Barnum serves the present head of the department.

New teachers and classes added this year were Marketing 1 and 2, taught by Marthaller, Diversified Occupations, taught by Diana Ashley, and Sue Scott who taught typing and shorthand classes.

Gayle Ingerson's Personal Finance classes tend to attract a wide variety of students.

Classes Visit U. Of O. Event

Faith Kinkle, French teacher, gets caught sneaking a drink as Frau Rita Collins listens carefully.

The big activity for all foreign language classes was participation in the Foreign Language Day held at the University of Oregon.

Among some of the activities, students saw a one-act comedy and talked to track stars Rudy Chapa and Alberto Salazar about language study.

A group of A.F.S. students studying in Oregon visited the school and also spoke to the language classes. The countries of Norway, Ecuador and Venezuela were represented.

The A.F.S. foreign exchange student that studied at North this year was Machiko Ode from Tokyo, Japan. Stefano Mamani from Italy and Siamak Fooladi from Iran, were other foreign exchange students.

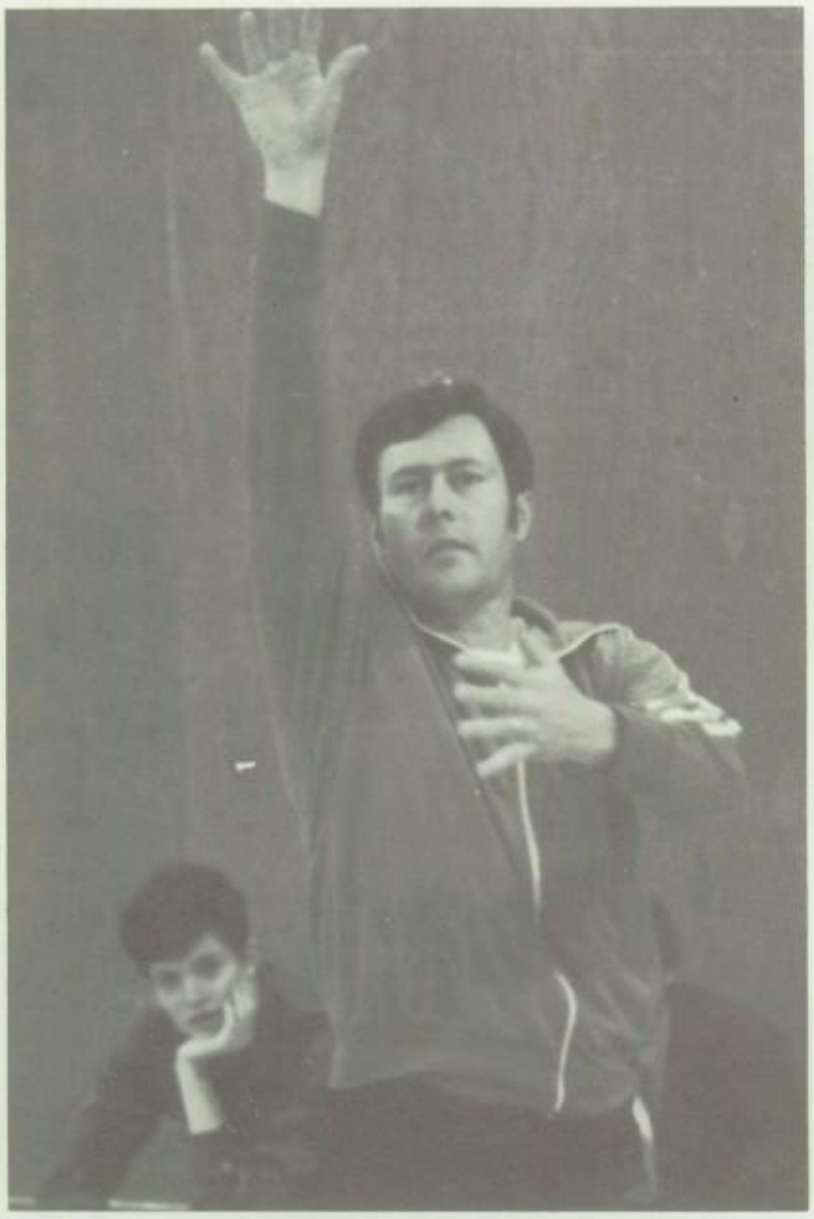
Home Ec. Grows

North offered a comprehensive Home Economics program with emphasis in consumerism, parenting careers, housing, foods and nutrition and clothing and textiles.

The Child Development class was expanded into two separate classes this year, Child Development I and II, which grew to be lab experience classes. The students worked with three and four year olds in preschool who had special needs and required additional help. Kindergarteners were also involved in the program.

The Foods, Clothing and Housing classes made a contribution by participating in the Christmas Festival. Students worked hard to make, set up and sell items they had finished. National Nutrition Week in March was also a success. Students in Foods and Child Development classes got together and let the student body sample nutritious snacks and drinks during that week.

Home Ec teacher, Brenda Miller, shows Chris Christopherson how to roll up dough as other students wait to eat it.



Terry Viohl demonstrates perfect free throw form.

P.E. Sees Changes, Health Stays Same

The Physical Education locker and trailing rooms were back in full use with the completion of construction. A new addition was the requirement that students bring their own combination locks instead of the department furnishing them.

Also for the first time, the department altered graduation requirements. In order to offer more activities and a greater variety of options for the students, it became necessary for students to take 1 dual, 1 team, 1 fitness, and 1 individual sport class sometime in the two years needed to graduate.

The Health Department continued to offer each of its courses as a self-contained 9 weeks class so students could enter each new quarter without being penalized. Classes dealt with such subjects as Mental Health, Sex Education, and Chronic and Communicable Diseases. A new course was added on Consumer Health where students learned to evaluate the various health services and products available to the students.

Fine Arts Unite

Drama, Music, and Art were combined this year to form the Fine Arts Department. According to Dept. Head Bob Foster, there were many benefits in doing this. Since there were five teachers, students with different interests were attracted, and the different classes were able to pool their funds to purchase such thing as new stage curtains, risers for the band and choir and a new sound system.

The Drama Dept directed by Carl Markworth put on two musicals: "Ten Nights in a Bakery Barroom" an old-fashioned melodrama, and "Pinocchio" done in lip-sync and directed by students.

The Acapella choir and the Highland Pipers, together with the Band and Orchestra had a successful year with such concerts as "A Christmas at North" and "Pops goes to Broadway." The choir sold Christmas wrap to raise money for a retreat to Camp Westwind on the Oregon coast.

The Arts Dept. prospered this year also with Doris Lang's students displaying their creations at exhibits all over town, and Jim Lockard's students selling their ceramic projects at the Christmas Festival. The productivity level in the ceramic class was low during the fall due to an explosion in the new kiln.

Future plans for the department included a Humanities with both Art and English credits awarded if taken for a full year.

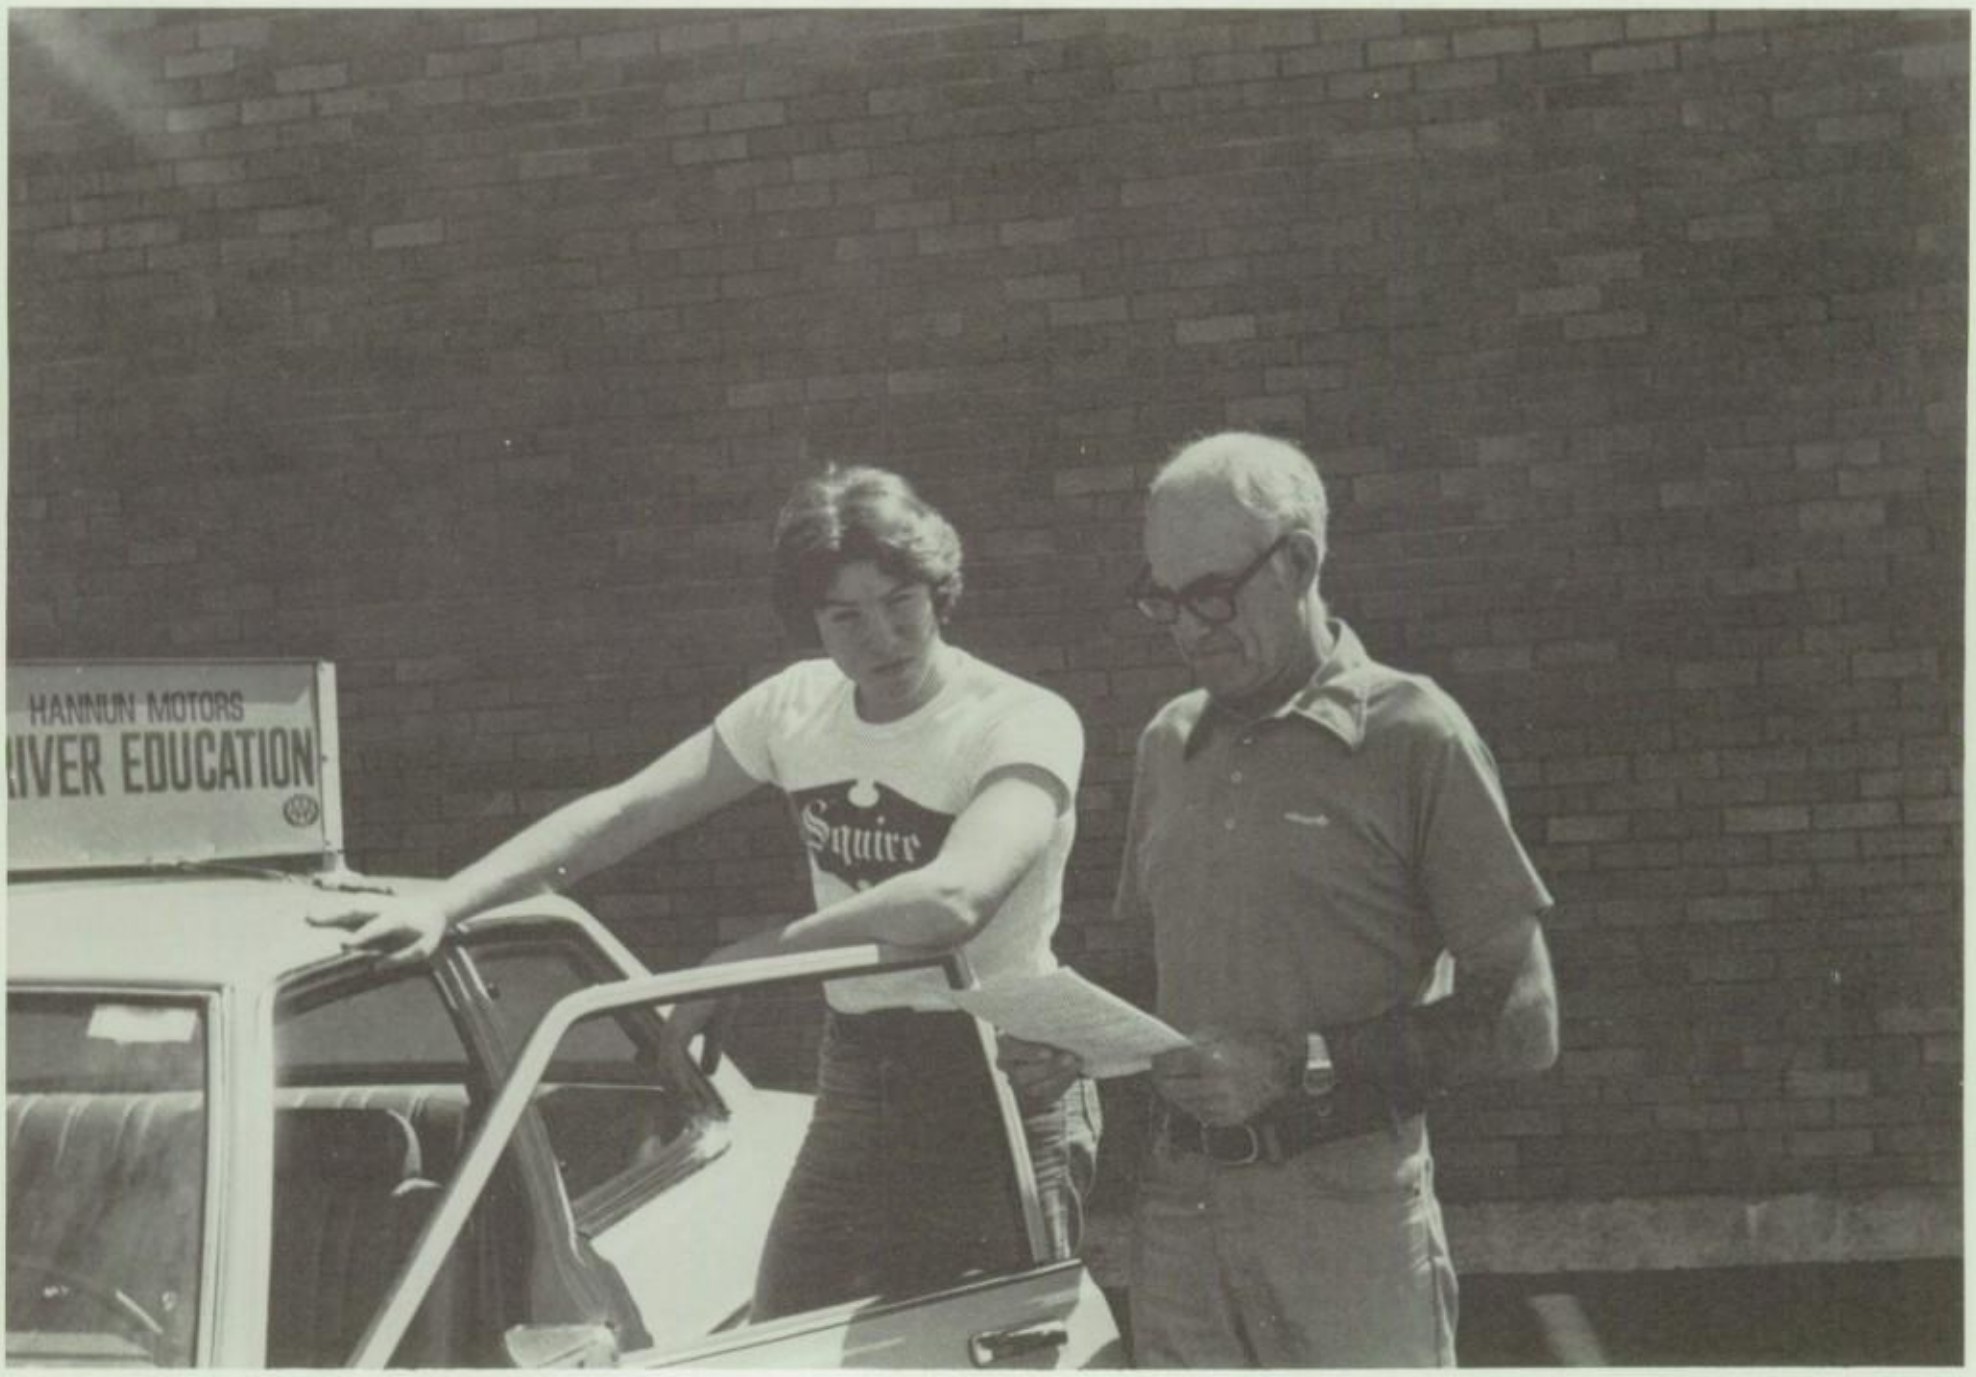
Drivers Ed And Nurses Kept Busy

Drivers Education teachers Tom Ragsdale and Jim Scott experienced grinding gears in an effort to teach students the right way to drive a car. Safeth, good habits, and courtesy on the road were the prime goals of the course. Another area which appealed to the students were the Home Nursing classes which were designed to teach students the fundamentals for careers in medicine. Students were taught to take blood pressure, temperature and pulse. Also Head Nurse Alma Ross and Asst. Nurse Marion McLaughlin were kept busy keeping records of the students going in and out of their office, giving first aid and minor treatments to the students and staff.



Dave Bird looks skeptical as Tom Ragsdale points out a negative score on his Drivers Ed. test.

Classes Add Lift

Mike Zysett watches closly as Jim Carmichael shows how to work the lathe.

Students were involved in a variety of interesting programs in the Industrial Education Dept. The Vocational Ed. Housing Project, under the supervision of John Mills, continued as it has for eight years. Thirty-two students from the district high schools designed and built the house which was to be sold when completed.

Some of the projects in the woodshop class included students making cabinets, chests and one student build a wooden bed frame. The first requirement in the class was the making of a small end table. Aided by Dept. Head Jim Carmichael, students learned all the uses of the various equipment.

In the metals class, students experimented with different welding tools, and made a variety of things. Under the direction of Merrill Kellogg, they produced a number of utility trailers which they sold.

Demand was high in the mechanics class, so John Janecek joined Bill Ruiter. The class was available to the students so they could keep their cars in working order.

Merrill Kellogg shows his method for keeping students in Metal Shop.

John Janecek seems dubious of a students suggestion.

New System Works Well

The Media Center tried out a system which seemed to work well, according to Head Librarian Ellen Ching. A 3-M Company detection machine was installed so students could no longer take materials out of the library without checking them out first. Other renovations enhanced the physical appearance of the Center. Miss Ching said their major goal was to provide excellent service to the students and staff. She hoped the individual study corrals would improve study habits for the students.

The Audio-Visual Dept. also continued to give excellent service by keeping all film projectors, tape recorders, etc. in good working order.

Staff Works To Keep It Clean

The cooks continued to serve nutritious and appetizing meals to the faculty and students. New this year, the district scheduled a monthly menu which the cooks were required to serve instead of letting each school decide. Also thru a lot of hard work and dedication, the kitchen personnel was able to make the new lunch hour run smoothly.

The custodians worked both night and day keeping not only the lunch area clean, but the entire school building and surrounding area as well.

The class of '81 began their first year at North Eugene with pre-registration, avoiding most of the arena scheduling rush. They received their traditional welcome at the Hello Assembly. The "unknown sophomores" were forced to watch the assembly through the cut-out eye holes of brown paper bags. They held their own against a barrage of insults and filberts from the upperclassmen.

The Sophomore class officers, President Todd Gentry, Vice President D'Anne Tramp, Secretary Cindy Reed, and Treasurer Jon Plant were elected in October. As a relatively inactive group; they set no goals and their main accomplishment was the selection of class rings.

Juniors Borrow; But Show Success

As in years past, the main concern of the Junior class was planning and fund raising for the Junior-Senior Prom.

The class officers, President John Dorn, Vice President Chris Gabbert, Secretary Tina Caisse, and Treasurer Judy Rust hoped "to have the best Prom North has ever had." They failed to rally the support of their classmates behind their efforts. Despite car washes and the Jog-a-thon the class was forced to borrow funds from the student council to finance the Prom.

.The Prom, held at the Country Squire, was a great success. Over 100 couples danced to the rock music of Vamp. As a result of the good turnout, the class not only paid back the ASB loan, but managed to collect some extra money.

Seniors Bid North A Last Farewell

The class of '79 faced their final year of school with anticipation, looking forward to senior activities, graduation and the world beyond high school.

Class officers, President Eric Krupicka, Vice President Nancy Schmidt, Secretary Joyce Phelps, and Treasurer Kevin Brown were well organized to meet the demands of planning senior events. Early in the year, they formed committees to plan the Senior Breakfast, Baccalaureate and Commencement. They selected graduation announcements and spent a lot of time and effort on fund-raising activities. Among other things, the class held a car bash and sold football shirts to raise money.

The traditional senior class gift was presented at the Awards Assembly. It was to be plaques bearing the names and emblems of the eight schools in the district 5AAA, to be placed on the walls of the gym.

On the Sunday, the majority of the class attended Baccalaureate, which proved to be a sober and formal affair. The senior breakfast held Friday morning at the Thunderbird Inn, was a fun-filled event for everyone. That evening 300 nervous seniors in caps and gowns, gathered in the cafeteria, sharing their final moments as Highlanders.

A Final Note

Dear Classmates:

They say our future depends upon our past. If our future depends on our life at North Eugene, it promises to be very bright indeed.

It started out big and scary, with long halls, hidden classrooms, and upperclassmen forcing us to roll filberts down the gym. But gradually the halls became shorter, the classrooms took on a logical sequence, and those "big kids" became our close friends and team-mates.

Our sophomore year was filled with excitement, success state wide recognition in sports, and consistent defeat in our SOFMOR spellout.

The Junior year was a little less rewarding in the way of sports, but we did claim a few victories spelling JUNIOR correctly. This was our year for involvement. We knew as much about our school as we ever would and we all did something in our way to help it.

Our senior year came next. As they say "The Last is The Best," and so it was. SENIOR became the easiest word to spell, and most often the loudest. District championships in many sports made North again a "household word". Seniors all put their best foot forward in the final push for that diploma. Studying, hard work and competencies seemed evil words, yet all dedicated seniors knew their meaning.

So we all leave this school scared for our futures, yet sure the roads will become shorter, the places won't be so strange, and the people; the people will become our new friends and team-mates.

It's not easy to say good-bye to our friends here at North Eugene, so we'll just say so long. For we will meet again, because we are devine, we're the class of '79.

May your future always be as bright as your days at North Eugene.

Class of 1979 Says Farewell to North

The class of 1979 paid a happy farewell to North Eugene on June 8. For many it was a last visit to a place that had been "home" for three years.

Friends, relatives, and faculty members crowded into a packed auditorium to watch the proud graduates receive their long awaited diplomas.

After the processional to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance," Principal Don Essig opened with a few "Facts and Figures," and wished his first graduating class "the best of luck in their future."

Student speakers were Twana Jones reciting "High School Diploma", Donna McCullough with "Only Yesterday", Cindy Hansen spoke about "High School The Best Years of Our Life?"; and Valedictorian Kevin Graves gave his best to the "Divine Class of Seventy-Nine."

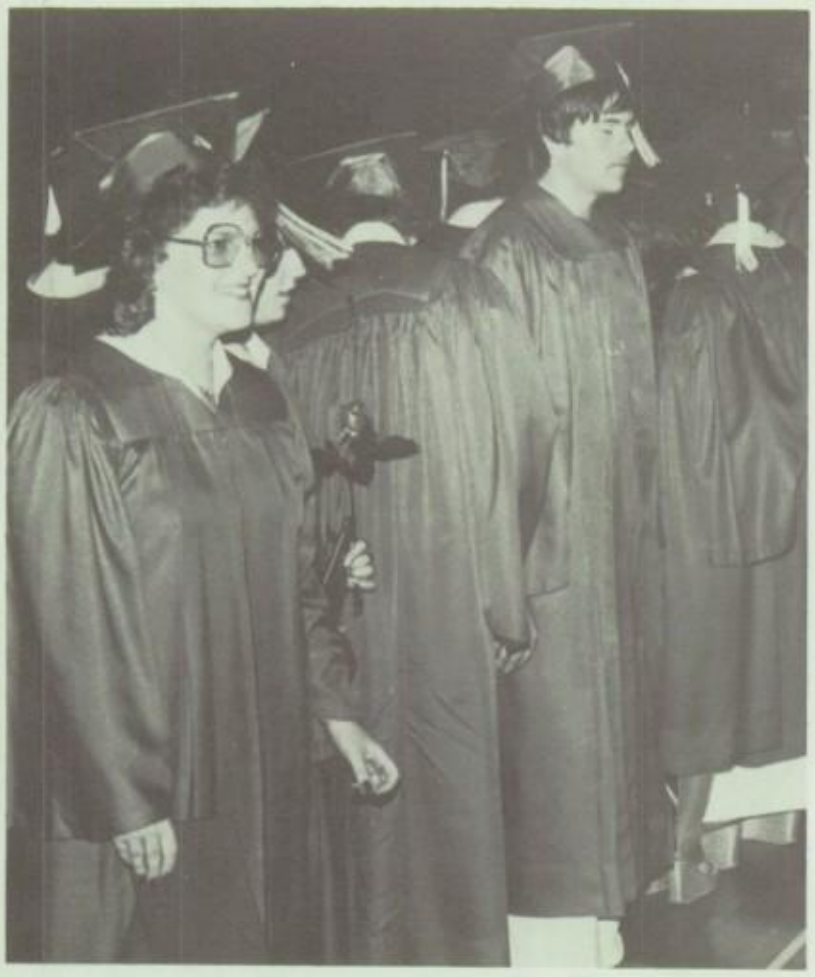
Musical entertainment included "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "An American Trilogy," by the Acapella choir. Also the stage Band played "Big Swing Face," and "Wind Machine" which included a rousing drum solo by senior David Hall. Diplomas were awarded by Betty Bergman, the longest standing member of "The Team."

An excited Class of '79 marched out to the theme song from "Animal House."

David Hall "strips" so he can belt out another solo during commencement.

Cindy Hanson looks back at the "best years of our life."

A "cool" Kelly Pfaller inspects his diploma.



Lynn Basil smiles about the past, while Larry Osborn prays for the future.

Look at this day!
For yesterday is but a dream,
and tomorrow is only a vision.
But today, well lived,
makes every yesterday
a dream of happiness, and every tomorrow
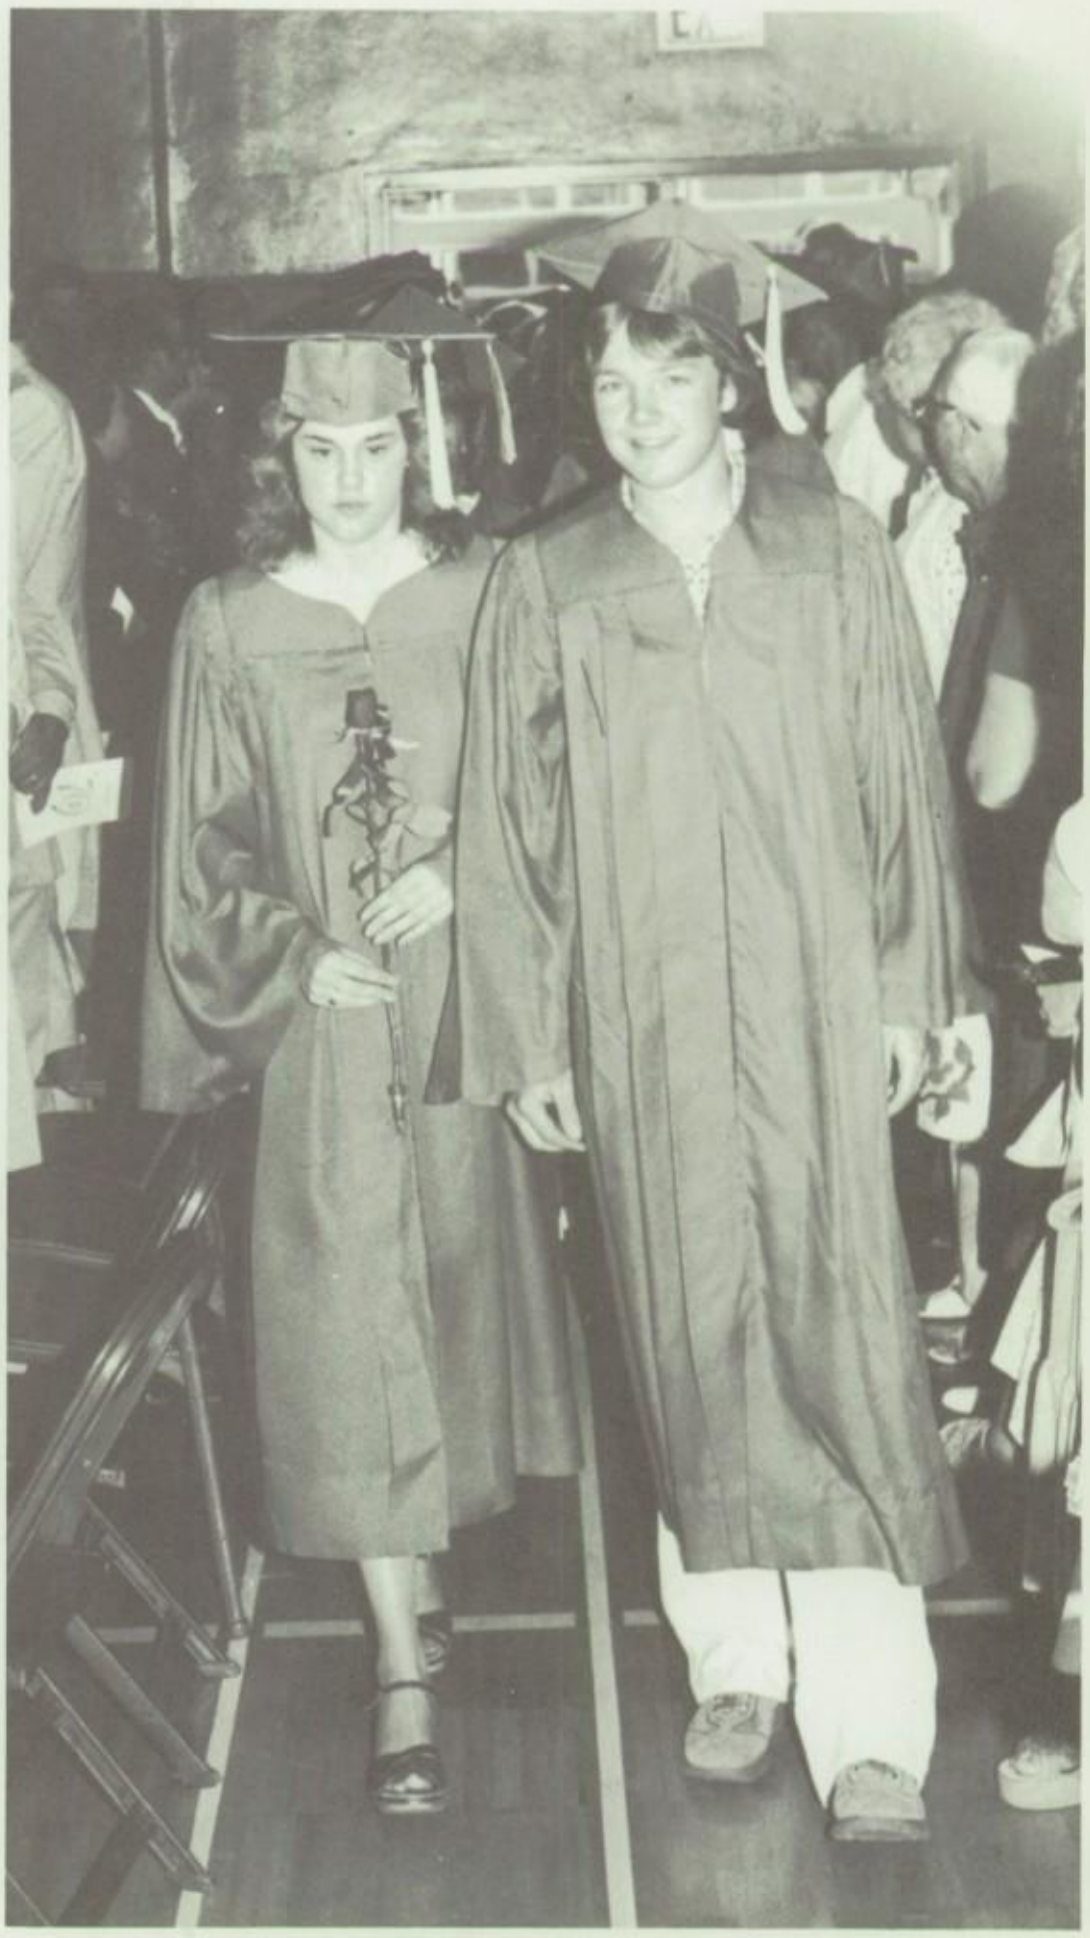
a vision of hope.

—anonymous



Tina Christensen and Bryan Hurley march into the gym for the last time.

Quality is never an accident,
it is always the result of intelligent effort.
There must be a will to produce a superior thing.

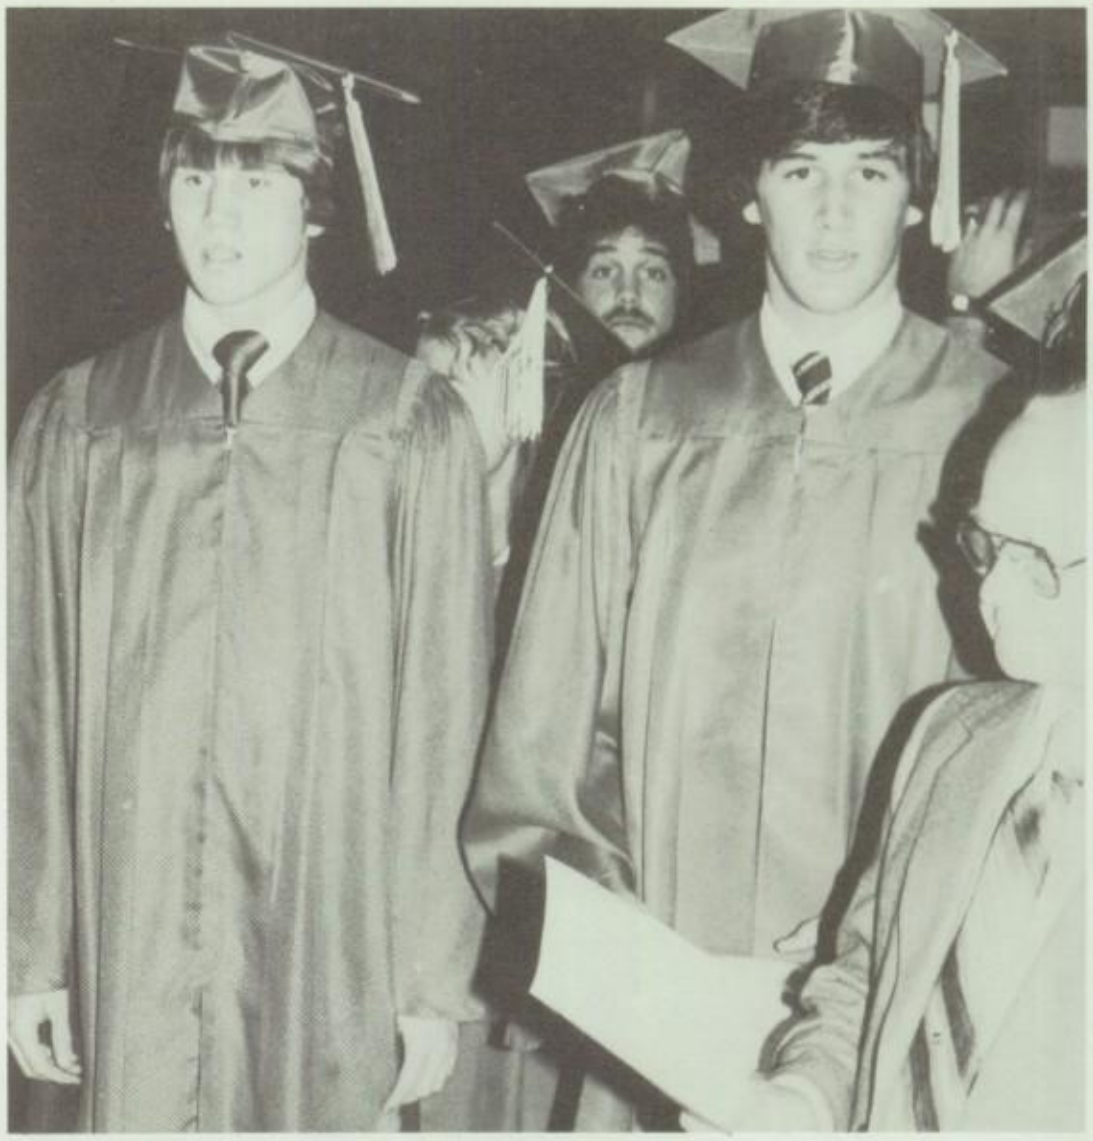
— John Ruskin



Kevin Brown and Eric Krupicka wait to lead the class of '79 in for the last time.

Lynn Nasura beams as she gives Lisa Evearts a hug.

Laura Simmons and Nancy Yerrick find togas appropriate commencement.

Is that me? Questions Kathy Himber about the unique sign in front of her.

Seniors prepare themselves for the long march ahead.

Hi, Dug, Kid!
Just a pic, cause
Biology reminded me of learning something I almost and the frog - I cried
you silly that not of my mind, all the me about our subject.
a paper
to remember that with Z. -
Love Ted
